

you're reimagining healthcare. we know how to help.

By pursuing new ways to overcome old problems, you're pioneering the future of healthcare for your patients, providers, and organization. athenahealth can help you take your business to the next level.

Make patient engagement truly engaging

Patient engagement means more than just communication with providers, closing care gaps, and providing basic information on a patient portal. Today's patients expect greater access to information and the ability to self-service, mimicking the conveniences found in more consumer-driven industries. With robust scheduling capabilities, patient-centered care plans, and on-demand access to medical information, our solution enables you to meet patients in all the roles they play throughout the care continuum: from patient to payer to care team member. Delivering a truly engaging patient experience—one that inspires patients to actively participate in their own care—can be critical in helping you optimize operational efficiency and achieve better clinical and financial results.

Keep providers (and patients) happy

We organize the moment of care so that physicians can focus on the patient instead of paperwork. Our Patient Record Sharing capabilities automatically search our comprehensive network of care sites, as well as CommonWell and Carequality, to locate your patient's records and surface them directly in your clinical workflow. Plus, we maintain interfaces with 600K+ pharmacies, labs, imaging centers, and other healthcare providers, so you don't have to log into another system to access outside data. You get the information you need to control point-of-care decisions and delight patients with the quality of their experience. We've seen these benefits drive physician and patient loyalty across multiple provider organizations.

Differentiate your practice

We know that no one system can serve every use case. Our capabilities give you the flexibility to extend athenaOne's clinical, patient engagement, and practice management workflows based on your business' unique goals.
